

115TH CONGRESS 2D SESSION

H. R. 7091

To stop the production of fentanyl and its trafficking into the United States from the People's Republic of China.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

OCTOBER 26, 2018

Mr. Smith of New Jersey (for himself, Mr. Suozzi, Ms. Ros-Lehtinen, Miss González-Colón of Puerto Rico, Mr. Poe of Texas, Mr. Fleischmann, Mr. Lance, Mr. MacArthur, Mr. Lipinski, Mr. Chabot, and Mr. Donovan) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs

A BILL

To stop the production of fentanyl and its trafficking into the United States from the People's Republic of China.

- 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
- 2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,
- 3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
- 4 This Act may be cited as the "Combatting Illicit
- 5 Fentanyl Act of 2018".
- 6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.
- 7 Congress finds the following:
- 8 (1) America's overdose epidemic is spreading
- 9 geographically, is increasing across all demographic

- groups and the sharp increase in drug overdose deaths in the United States between 2015 to 2016 was fueled by a surge in illicit fentanyl, a highly potent drug about 80 to 100 times as strong as morphine by weight and is 30 to 40 times stronger than heroin by weight, as well as fentanyl-related compound analogue overdoses.
 - (2) Fentanyl began to appear on U.S. streets in the early 2000s, in recent years it has become a major international drug control issue as overdose deaths from its abuse continue to rise, with a spike beginning in 2013. Foreign-sourced fentanyl killed more Americans in 2016 than all other illicit drugs, and synthetic opioids such as fentanyl and tramadol accounted for more than 29,000 U.S. drug overdose deaths in 2017, according to provisional data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Illicit fentanyl is not a diverged pharmaceutical product, is illicitly manufactured, and is clandestinely distributed and integrated into the illicit drug supply, usually sold as "heroin" in powder form, or as counterfeit opioid or benzodiazepine pills.
 - (3) In Ocean County, New Jersey, based on data from the Ocean County Prosecutor's Office, in 2014 10 percent of all overdose deaths had fentanyl

- in their systems, and by 2018 that number had risen to 80 percent.
- (4) The Drug Enforcement Administration re-3 ports that of the illicit fentanyl class substances and 5 hundreds of other designer drugs it has identified, 6 "the vast majority . . . are manufactured in China". In 2018, a year-long congressional probe 7 8 found that illicit fentanyl could easily be bought on-9 line from Chinese "labs" and mailed to the United 10 States due to gaps in oversight in the United States 11 Postal Service, and despite increased cooperation be-12 tween United States and Chinese counter-narcotics 13 agencies, illicit fentanyl is still shipped to the United 14 States.
 - (5) According to written testimony submitted to Congress by the RAND Corporation, regulatory capacity in China is inadequate to effectively police its expansive pharmaceutical and chemical industries, and according to the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission, corrupt practices among local officials limit the effectiveness of regulations and allows criminal actors to facilitate the fentanyl trade.
 - (6) In June 2018, $1.7 million worth of Chinese fentanyl was detected by counternarcotics

- agents in a Philadelphia port during a routine inspection, China has publicly gone to great lengths to shirk responsibility for illicit fentanyl emanating out of the country, and in June 2018, Chinese official Liu Yuejin blamed the crisis on the American people, saying "When fewer and fewer Americans use fentanyl, there would be no market for it", ignoring the Chinese supply of the illicit substance, and China fails to effectively regulate precursor chemicals, including fentanyl precursors.
 - (7) Fentanyl lacks a "street name", indicating that this is more of a supply than a demand issue and its intentional use is far outweighed by non-intentional use. On September 6, 2018, at a hearing before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Africa, Global Health, Global Human Rights, and International Organizations, expert private witnesses from diverse professional and academic backgrounds all concurred that China can do more to stem the flow of fentanyl.
 - (8) According to the United Nations General Assembly, the drug trade poses a threat to "development, peace and security and human rights", and the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime (the Palermo Con-

- vention), a multilateral treaty against transnational organized crime including in the realm of narcotics signed and ratified by China which entered into force in 2003, obligates States Parties to "ensure effective action by its authorities in the prevention, detection and punishment of the corruption of public officials".
- 8 (9) Combating illicit fentanyl is a top priority 9 of the Trump Administration and the President has called it "outrageous" that fentanyl comes from 10 11 China. The Trump Administration has both high-12 lighted China's role in the crisis and targeted Chi-13 nese manufacturers and traffickers, and at an Au-14 gust 16, 2018, cabinet meeting, President Trump di-15 rected Attorney General Sessions to step up efforts 16 to stem inflows of fentanyl from China.
